

NEW YORK JOURNAL

Copyright, 1896, by W. R. Hearst.

No. 9,074.

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1896.—12 PAGES.

ONE CENT.

OVER 200,000 GREET BRYAN.

Most Remarkable Demonstration Ever Made in Indiana.

Enthusiasm of the Citizens Unparalleled in Any Previous Campaign.

All the People in the Towns Through Which He Passes Cheer the Champion.

The Democratic Candidate Ridicules the Attitude of the Bolters.

HAVE A TICKET THAT CAN'T WIN.

They Don't Expect to Carry a County, but Merely Seek to Injure Their Party. Decoy Ticket a Transparent Fraud.

Multitudes Which Greeted Bryan.

Jeffersonville	7,000
New Albany	14,000
Scottsburg	1,000
Scottsburg	3,500
Crothersville	500
Seymour	10,000
Columbus	12,000
Edinburg	2,000
Franklin	3,000
Way stations	7,000
Indianapolis (at depot)	17,000
Along route of parade	30,000
State House meeting	50,000
First Court House meeting	20,000
Second Court House meeting	30,000
Tomball Hall	5,000
Total	224,000

Indianapolis, Oct. 6.—Over two hundred thousand people have flocked upon William J. Bryan within the limits of the State of Indiana to-day. From the moment of his arrival at Jeffersonville, across the river from Louisville, to the close of the afternoon, Mr. Bryan received such an ovation as has never before fallen to the lot of a Presidential candidate.

When his Indiana campaign is concluded to-morrow night, the phenomenal record of West Virginia will have been eclipsed and a majority of the voters of Indiana will have seen the Democratic candidate.

Governor Matthews, R. F. Shively, Democratic candidate for Governor, William S. Holman and other prominent Democrats formed a part of the Bryan escort to-day. The speeches on route were all brief.

At Indianapolis the depot and adjoining streets were packed with people, and thousands stretched along the line of march. The significant feature of the parade was the presence of several hundred members of the Bryan and Sewall Travelling Men's Club.

The Indianapolis meetings were larger and marked by great enthusiasm. The one at the State House had the biggest crowd. In his speech Mr. Bryan discussed the bolters' ticket named in this city.

The State House Speech.
Mr. Bryan said:
It gives me great pleasure to come to

Continued on Second Page.

REBUKED FOR HIS LETTER.

Consul-General Criticized by the State Department for His Statement to the Journal.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 6.—Ex-Governor T. T. Crittenden, Consul-General to Mexico, who is in Kansas City on a vacation, has received a note from Secretary of State Olney, in which the Consul-General is criticized for publishing in the New York Journal information which, it is claimed, should have first appeared in the consular reports. The note may lead to a call for Governor Crittenden's resignation, for Mr. Crittenden himself takes no pains to prevent a widening of the breach between himself and those higher in authority.

The New York Journal of September 14 published a long, signed letter from Mr. Crittenden, in which he told at length the information he had gathered regarding the industrial and commercial conditions of the Mexicans. The facts told in the letter had also been used in the consular report, but the report has not yet been published.

After ex-Gov. Crittenden came to Kansas City a letter from the Secretary of State reproving him for his course was forwarded from Mexico. The letter, as is customary, is a polite official notice, which a careful diplomat readily understands to be a broad hint that his action has been a violation of diplomatic usage, which, if repeated, will, in the ordinary course of affairs, be followed by a call for his resignation.

Ex-Gov. Crittenden evidently intends to force just such a state of affairs, for he talks freely about the matter and assumes a rather defiant attitude.

WILL THERE BE A DUEL?

Washington People Think There Is Prospect of a Fight Between Logan Carlisle and Senator Blackburn.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Political Washington is torn by its emotions to-night over the alleged prospect of a duel between Logan Carlisle, distinguished widely by the possession of a father formerly a United States Senator, and now Secretary of the Treasury, and Senator Joe Blackburn.

In declining the Lakeland Club's recent invitation to discuss the issues of the day with L. C. Moore, young Carlisle went out of his way to fling a rant at Blackburn by saying the Lakeland Democratic Club had done him more honor in asking him to occupy the same platform with a negro than the "Popocracy of Kentucky" had done his father in asking him to divide time with Joe Blackburn.

A HEN'S OMEN OF VICTORY.

Kentucky Hen Lays an Egg Marked "B" and "16 to 1."

Richmond, Ky., Oct. 6.—Dock Cobb, a prominent farmer of Richmond, and brother of County Attorney J. Tevis Cobb, brought here yesterday what is undoubtedly the most remarkable campaign curiosity ever seen here.

It is a hen's egg, on one side of which, in ink, is the letter "B." On the other side is an exact figure, also in ink, of an American dollar, on which are plainly visible an eagle and the figures 10 to 1, the "17" being preceded by a "2."

MRS. LADENBURG TO WED AGAIN.

The Banker's Widow Will Become Mrs. Ralph N. Ellis.

Wedding to Take Place in Grace Church During the Coming Winter.

Both Belong to the Hunting Set and Are Popular in Society.

HUSBAND DIED NINE MONTHS AGO.

The Great Banker Fell from a Steamer's Deck and Left His Wife $7,000.

000—A Beautiful Society Woman.

Hempstead, L. I., Oct. 6.—The rumored engagement of Mrs. Adolf Ladenburg to Ralph N. Ellis, master of the fox hounds of the Meadowbrook Hunt Club, although not formally announced, is acknowledged as true by members of the club, whose close friendship with both of the interested parties naturally lends authority to their statements.

At the Garden City Hotel, where Mrs. Ladenburg is stopping, one of the club's prominent members stated that Mrs. Ladenburg and Mr. Ellis will be married during the winter. Meadowbrook gossip sets the time as late in December at Grace Church, New York. She was present at the hunt yesterday and was the first woman in at the finish.

Mr. Ellis has been confined to his bed since Monday with neuritis and could not be seen this evening. He was to have gone to-morrow with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock to the Genesee Valley Hunt Club to indulge in some fox hunting, but is now obliged to postpone his trip owing to his indisposition.

"Little Mrs. Ladenburg," as she is always called, is one of the prettiest and most interesting women in the fashionable set. She has been a widow only nine months, but to her many friends who miss her at dinners and dances, it seems that many years. She went everywhere until last January, when one morning the Ward line steamship Niagara sailed up to her dock with the sad news of Mr. Ladenburg's disappearance during the voyage from Nassau, and his evident death.

He had gone to Florida three weeks before for his health, and from there to Nassau. He was on his way home, when during a terrible hurricane he either jumped or was washed overboard by a wave. His friends scorned the idea of suicide. There were no business reasons for such a course, for the great banking house of Ladenburg, Thalman & Co., had never been in more prosperous condition, and he certainly could not be happier in his family relations. He adored his beautiful wife, and since the advent of a little daughter a year before, he seemed more contented than ever. Only a few days before sailing for home he had sent the baby girl a cable, congratulating her upon the first anniversary of her birth.

The news of Mr. Ladenburg's death was broken gently to his wife, who had come up to town from their place at Westbury, L. I., to welcome her husband home. She was completely prostrated, and returned to her country seat, where she has since lived in retirement.

Wife Got the Whole Estate.

Mr. Ladenburg left an estate valued at about $700,000. By the terms of his will everything goes to his wife. His daughter, Eugene Mary, was born after the document was made.

Mrs. Ladenburg was Miss Emily Stevens before her marriage. Her wedding, which occurred about eleven years ago, at Lawrence, L. I., was the event of the season, and was followed by a hunt breakfast, at which all the men appeared in their pink coats. The Stevenses were among the oldest families in that part of the country, and the most notable names in the county, as well as in New York's fashionable society, were in the list of guests.

A daughter of Alexander H. Stevens, president of the Sixth National Bank, she was famous for her beauty, which she inherited from her grandmother, who was Emily Marshall, of Boston, and in her time a famous beauty. Mrs. Ladenburg is also a descendant of Albert Gallatin, who was Secretary of the Treasury under President Thomas Jefferson. She is a niece of Frederick Stevens, whose wife, after their divorce, married the Duc de Dino.

Mrs. Ladenburg is "petite." Her face is oval and almost classic in its perfect lines. Her soft, wavy, dark hair is brushed back off her forehead and knotted in a coil in the back. She dresses in perfect taste, very simply as a rule. She is an enthusiastic sportswoman, an excellent cross-country rider, and, before her husband's death, frequently followed the Meadowbrook hounds.

DETECTIVE WITH CLEVELAND.

Special Officer Arrives at Greenwich, Accompanying the President's Wife.

Greenwich, Conn., Oct. 6.—Mrs. Grover Cleveland and her three little daughters, Ruth, Esther and Marion, arrived here from New Haven this afternoon. With them were a private detective, maid, governess and dressmaker.

The party were met at the depot by Miss Helen Benedict, and driven by her to her father's mansion at Indian Harbor, where formerly stood the American Clubhouse. President Cleveland, who has been on a short fishing trip with Commodore E. Corning Benedict, on the latter's yacht, the Orion, arrived later in the day. The Cleveland family will probably stay over Sunday here, and then will resume their journey to Washington.

The Whitneys to Go to Europe.

Bar Harbor, Me., Oct. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. William C. Whitney left here to-day to go to Lenox. They will remain there a few days and then go to New York, preparatory to sailing for Europe.

DEATH WOUND FAILS TO KILL.

With a Big Bullet in His Brain, Schroder Walks Two Miles.

Asks for Help, Then Falls Exhausted, but Soon Recovers.

Though the Man Lived, a Jersey Coroner Wanted to Take Charge of Him.

SAYS HE SHOT HIMSELF BY ACCIDENT.

Locked Up in Jail He Is Still Able to Tell His Story, but a Doctor Says He Must Die in a Few Hours.

With a bullet in his brain, Morris Schroder, of No. 1339 Third avenue, this city, walked two miles from Ridgefield, N. J., to Hackensack, had his wound probed and

Two Little Girls Kidnapped by Their Mother While at School.

Mattie and Jennie Stagg, who were abducted on Monday, were found yesterday in the home of Jacob Berdan, in Paterson. When Henry B. Stagg sued for divorce he took the little girls and placed them in their grandmother's and aunt's care in Hackensack. The children told yesterday how a woman enticed them from school into a carriage and drove away with them. The father will fight to regain his daughters.

dressed, and then walked to the jail, where he lay, though late last night he was still able to move around and carry on a conversation.

A little after 7 o'clock a tall, well-dressed man, thirty-seven years of age, walked into McFadden's pharmacy, on Main street, Hackensack, called for a doctor, and fell to the floor unconscious. He quickly recovered, however, and asked again for a physician. Dr. McFadden, a brother of the proprietor of the drug store, was present, and went to the man's assistance. He found him covered with blood and dirt, and there was a bloody hole in his head over the right temple.

Bullet in His Brain.

The man said it was made by a bullet, and the doctor probed but failed to locate it, though he discovered that it was buried in the man's brain. Fearing fatal results if he continued probing, the doctor dressed the man's wounds and turned him over to Chief of Police Van Buren, and the man was taken to jail.

Coroner Ricardo also discovered that something unusual had occurred, and he joined the group. He immediately took charge of the case and proceeded to question the wounded man.

In replying to the Coroner's queries, Schroder said he had been living at Herman Schumann's hotel, No. 1339 Third avenue, and had a brother living at No. 425 East Sixty-ninth street. He said he had accidentally shot himself while firing at a hawk at Ridgefield Park and had walked to Hackensack for medical aid.

On the road to the jail Schroder walked with the apparent strength of a well man, and kept up a conversation as though nothing had happened. At this point Justice Harrison put in an appearance, and there was pretty strong language used by the Justice because of the interference of the Coroner. He informed the latter that the man was still alive, and that the Coroner's powers were limited to dead men only.

The wounded man's clothes showed that he must have fallen many times in his long tramp of two miles after he had been wounded.

The authorities are of the opinion it was a case of attempted suicide. Dr. McFadden has little hopes that the man will recover in spite of the wonderful vitality he has shown.

ABDUCTED GIRLS FOUND AT LAST.

Mattie and Jennie Stagg at the Home of Jacob Berdan in Paterson.

Long and Wild Ride Over Country Roads from Hackensack to Paterson.

Story of the Adventure Told by Little Mattie, While Sister Jennie Nods Assent.

MOTHER HAS HER DARLINGS NOW.

And She Intends to Keep Them Until They Are Legally Taken from Her—But the Father Will Press the Fight.

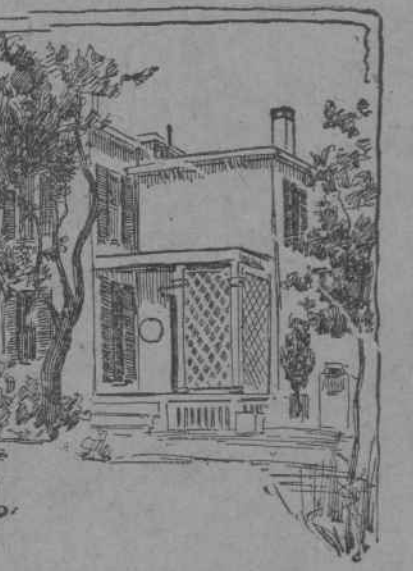

Two little girls in plain dresses—Mattie and Jennie Stagg—who were kidnapped from Hackensack on Monday, were found yesterday. They are in Paterson at the

TORRE GROVER'S PICTURE.

The Powhattan Club of Richmond Declines to Have Cleveland's Likeness on the Wall.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 6.—At the meeting to-night of the Powhattan Club, the leading political organization in this city, there was a heated discussion as to whether Grover Cleveland's picture should be removed from its place over the president's chair in the clubhouse to make a place for photographs of Bryan and Sewall. Speeches denouncing President Cleveland as a traitor to his party were made and members declared that the likeness of such a man had no place in the quarters of a Democratic organization.

"Turn his picture to the wall" was the sentiment expressed by Mr. MacJones, the member who first offered the resolution to take Grover's picture down.

Some of the older members, however, urged that such an act would do the club harm and make enemies. Their advice was heeded after much discussion, and a resolution was passed providing that the picture of the Chief Executive be removed to some less conspicuous place, and those of the Democratic nominees be hung in the place of honor.

Upon the adjournment of the club, however, the large canvass painting of the President was torn by some of the members of the organization, and in a few minutes the likeness of Grover Cleveland was a ruin.

SHOT BY A CONSTABLE.

Up State Village in a Frenzy of Excitement Over an Alleged Unwarrantable Assault on a Farmer.

Westkill, N. Y., Oct. 6.—The shooting of James K. Black, a prominent farmer, by Constable Lorenzo D. Humphrey, has caused great excitement in the village. Indignation ran so high that there was even talk of lynching. Humphrey is now under arrest, and is in charge of Constable Martin Chamberlain. He was taken before Squire Baldwin and waived examination until to-morrow.

Humphrey went to Black's farm to collect a judgment against Samuel S. Styles, a nephew of Black. He levied on some growing corn and potatoes and then endeavored to tack up a bill of sale on the premises, when he was ordered away by Black. An altercation followed, and Humphrey shot at Black four times, hitting him, however, only once. The bullet passed through Black's neck and imbedded itself in his shoulder.

Humphrey is said to have threatened to shoot Mrs. Black also. Black is in the hospital in this city.

RECORDS GO UP IN SMOKE.

Fire in the Corporation Counsel's Office May Cause Serious Trouble.

A fire started shortly before 7 o'clock last night on the fourth floor of the Staats Zeitung building, at Centre street and Clark row. The fire originated in a wardrobe among some records belonging to the Corporation Counsel's office. The office was occupied by Charles D. Ollendorf and George London, assistants to Corporation Counsel Francis M. Scott. They had both gone home, and the exact cause of the fire is unknown.

The cause of the fire was carried into the hallway, where many of them were found to be so badly burned as to be useless.

An employee of the office said that if the burned records were of recent date their loss would cause interminable trouble and expense. They refer to condemnation proceedings relative to land for the erection of fire engine houses, schools and sites for new parks. If the records are old ones, copies may be obtained from the County Clerk's office.

Apart from the records destroyed, the damage was slight, being confined to a scorched partition and broken glass. There was no excitement among the tenants in the building, as they knew that

FLORIDA GOES AS EXPECTED.

Size of the Democratic Victory Not Yet Fully Disclosed.

Bloxham's Vote Believed to Be 25,000, Gunby's 9, and Weeks's 4,200.

Australian Ballot Responsible for a Smaller Total Than Usual.

First Trial of the System of Republican Candidate Most.

RETURNS SLOW IN COMING.

Sixteen Senators and Sixty-eight Representatives Elected to the Legislature for Silver, with Only Five Possible Exceptions.

From the Governor of Florida.

Tampa.

Editor New York Journal:
The full Democratic State election in Florida. On the system of voting, we should have a trial to-day, and the vote is slow in coming in. It cannot be had. Comparing and scattered returns with former apparent plurality of W. D. Bloxham, R. Gunby, his Republican opponent, or none.

To-day's result sufficiently indicates trend of popular feeling in this State. Four electors of Florida may be seen a certainty for Bryan and Sewall. Projects and statisticians at a distance placed Florida in the doubtful column because they lack information. It may be properly regarded as a doubtful thing. I am sure that then B. and S. will elect. I am sure that then B. and S. will elect. I am sure that then B. and S. will elect.

The silver sentiment is growing daily. Prior to the national convention the large masses of the voters favored silver currency. Since the party declared for it is its platform, the politicians, quick to take the popular view, have one after another declared for the renomination of silver. Had it not been for the efforts of party leaders the State convention at Ocala would have declared overwhelmingly for silver. The same leaders, since surprised by the strength of the sentiment as disclosed in the canvass, have been active and energetic in announcing their adherence to the national platform and its candidates.

The two Congressmen to be elected will be for silver. In the First District there is no question of the election of S. M. Sparkman to succeed himself. There is also no doubt of Colonel Robert Davis's success in the Second District, although he has not only the Republican and Populist candidates to overcome, but in addition has the representative of the Palmer-Buckner following to defeat. However, the defection is not serious, and will not alter the general result.

The complexion of the Legislature leaves no room for doubt as to the character of the United States Senator to be chosen at the coming session. The Legislature has 100 votes on joint ballot, and from the returns so far received it is fair to assume that 97 are for free coinage. It will be a condition precedent to the election of any one for Senator that he declare in favor of silver legislation.

HENRY L. MITCHELL, Governor of Florida.

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 6.—It is only the dimensions of the Democratic victory in Florida that remain unsettled.

As to the victory itself, it was won before the voting began. According to the best estimate based on extremely meagre and incomplete returns, W. D. Bloxham, the Democratic candidate for Governor, has received about 25,000 votes. His standing may drop lower, for Bloxham is suspected by many of insincerity in his professions of a silver faith and his candidacy was none too popular in his own party for that reason. E. H. Gunby may emerge from the count with 9,000 by his credit. He is at the head of the Republican ticket. W. A. Weeks, the figurehead of the Populist ticket, brings up a lonesome rear with a probable vote of 4,200.

There is a wide distance between the head and the tail of this procession of candidates. It is impossible to-night to obtain exact figures on the result. The estimates given are based on a comparison of returns—incomplete—from 90 odd voting precincts and towns with the vote of the same precincts and towns four years ago.

Why the Count is Slow.

To-day's election was the first held in the State under the new Australian ballot law, and lack of experience on the part of clerks and judges produces a slow count. In Duval County, of which Jacksonville is the county seat, the result will not be determined before to-morrow forenoon. The count will require at least from 12 to 16 hours. The ballot is more than two feet long and bears 108 names, and the voting precincts of the county are large.

Reports from thirty-five of forty-five counties give estimated Democratic majorities of from 100 to 600. Jefferson County reports estimated Democratic majorities of 1,900. There are only 3,200 women and children in Jacksonville. No official returns have been received. It will be until to-morrow morning that the official estimate as to majorities for Governor and United States Senator will exceed 20,000. From majority reports, it is estimated that the

Mrs. Adolf Ladenburg.

Popular in society and a member of the Meadowbrook Hunt Club, she is soon to marry Mr. Ralph N. Ellis, who is also well known as a huntsman. Mr. Ladenburg died nine months ago, leaving his wife a fortune of $7,000,000. It is said that the marriage will take place in Grace Church, this city, during the coming winter.